JAPANESE GOVERNMENT IS SERIOUSLY CONCERNED

Education Committee Decides Sex Hygiene Will Not Be Introduced in Elementary Schools.

London, May 30 .- The Japanese government has become so seriously concerned over the anti-Japanese spirit that is being cultivated in Australia, New Zealand and Canada, that missions have been sent to England and the

In Australia the antagonism against Asiatic immigration is even more bitsigns on Australia. It is for this and no other reason that conscription has een introduced into the Dominion, and the start has been made in building a every schoolroom in Japan, to which the attention of the students is directed as being that of a land which should form a part of the Japanese empire. The Japanese deny this, and say that the only justification for the evention is the cry of, "To the South a movement of commercial expansion, and has no political significance.

The feeling of antagonism of which the Japanese complain is not confined to Australians and New Zealanders. Englishmen visiting those dominions are infected with it. General Sir Ian Hamilton, inspector-general of oversea forces, who is paying an official visit to the Antipodea, referred to it in a speech that he delivered at Welling, and New Zealand. Answering the question why extraordinary precautions were being taken in Australia and New Zealand, he said it was because of the shortening of distances are lacking in one or more of these caused by the advent of electricity and aeroplanes and of high explosives. The Pacific, he said, was the meeting Fracing Training the ground not of nations, but of conti-Pacific, he said, was the meeting speaking ground not of nations, but of continets, where it might be decided whethground not of nations, but of continets, where it might be decided whether Asiatics or Europeans should guide the destines of the world. Other reasons no less obvious were under the surface. In the Malay States a fine people was going down before cheap coolie labor, and China showed signs of breaking up. These were illustrations of the change-evolving chaos, restored in the fact that America's artists are never given time to prepare themselves for the high work they are undertaking. olie labor, and China showed signs breaking up. These were flustra-ons of the change-evolving chaos, re-mbling the time of the French Revolution. Foreigners, who lived on rice and monopolized business, were invad-ing British countries. New Zeniand ing British countries. New Zeniand was very close to the danger zone, and New Zenland was no less eager, ready and willing to help her big sister. SEX HYGIENE WILL

NOT BE INTRODUCED The education committee of the Lon-on County Council has decided that neer no circumstances should sex hygiene be introduced into class teachng in the elementary schools. This lectsion was reached after a long in-restigation and the examination of a rge number of treachers.

The evidence was almost unanimousagainst the proposition. Dealing ith the objections to the inclusion of ich a subject in the curriculum, the is a subject in the curriculum, the cort of the committee mentions, in first place, that the knowledge of ach matters amongst children de-nds very largely upon the type of ome from which they have been rawn. It is pointed out that where, s unhappily common in many dis-is, the parents and children live in room in which all the ecvnts of and death take place, the knowl-of the children must be very dif-int fro that of children who e from a home where they are caretome from a home where they are carefully guarded and who may obtain no information of this kind until they are exer fourteen years of age. It would be a task of the greatest difficulty to teach the subject satisfactorily in class, since, while to some children the facts are already known, there the facts are already known, there are others to whom the knowledge might come as a shock. Then a method of treatment of this subject which might benefit one child might harm another. In the second place, speak-ing of these subjects in class must tend to break down the children's nating of these subjects in class must tend to break down the children's natural modesty and reserve. Nevertheless, the report agrees that some such instruction might be given to children over fourteen in the higher schools and evening institutes, and it is surgest-ed that pamphlets dealing with the subject should be give nto girls leav-ing the elementary schools.

MEASURE TO ENROLL

WOMEN CONSTABLES A bill to enable the police authorities to enroll women constables is to be introduced in the House of Commous by Lord Henry Cavendish Ben-tinck, Unionist member for South Not-

The officials of Scotland Yard have declared themselves as opposed to the measure. A spokesman said bluntly: "We are against the suggestion. We employ special women for special purcomplete special women for special pur-poses, such as visilance work, and in all cases intimately connected with women or young girls, to a far greater extent than the public realizes. More-over, in all our police stations women are employed to look after female prisoners, and whenever there is a fe-male prisoner a woman is constantly on the premises. Then, again, we work in close touch and sympathy with the many excellent societies that employ women detectives and watchers, and we step in with our constables on a hint from them. So that, on the whole, women constables are not only unnec-cessary, but objectionable, because they would inevitably lead to what one may wall exceptionable, and the contractive call specialized enlistment."

MOVEMENT IS AFOOT TO INDUCE
MEN IN NAVY TO GIVE UP DRINK
While it has not been suggested that the British Admiralty follow the example of Secretary Daniels and prohibit the use of wines and liquors in the navy, a movement is afoot to induce the men to give up drink.

In the Indian army the progress of temperance is remarkable. According to officers back from India, about 50 per cent of the British soldiers there are total abstainers.

The arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but it will probably take place from the First Baptist Church, of which Mr. Hancock was an active member for many years. Mr. Hancock was born in Chesterfield County in 1835, a son of Ananias and Bessie Stanton Hancock, both descendants of early settlers of Virginia. Mr. Hancock came to Richmond when seventeen years of age and entered the employment of J. W. Atkinson, and later was with William Grainer until warning of the impending storm came shortly after 5 o'clock, when a clap of thunder resounded over the city. Clouds banked up in the east, and

Mrs. Dacre Fox, of the Woman's So-clai and Political Union, thinks the idea an excellent one. "There should be no specializing between men and women," she said, "the community should have the pick of the best of both sexes. The doctrine of physical force and the sex question apply less in this respect than any other, as policemen only exist by the moral force behind them."

duce the men to give up drink.

Admiral Sir G. King-Hall, speaking of this movement, said that temperance in the navy was making progress all along the line, but there was still room for much improvement. He condemned the practice of giving out grog, and said 50 per cent of the men would give it up if some small addition to their pay were substituted. He hoped some First Lord of the future would take up the matter with wisdom and boldness, it would mean adding only another 300,000 to the pay of the men to bring about the reform, which would lead to an increase in efficiency all around.
